Research and Communications Intern

Company Introduction: Nikore Associates (NA) is a youth-led policy design and research think tank. Our research focuses on infrastructure and development, including labour, gender, industrial development, transport, logistics, and more. Our policy recommendations and research have been published in many national and international publications and news media.

Responsibilities:

- Providing secondary research assistance for policy briefs, research proposals, op-eds and blogs.
- Preparing knowledge documents, presentations and excel databases.
- Interns are expected to display teamwork skills, as they will work closely with a team of bright students and early career professionals enthusiastic about policy in India and beyond.
- Every team member is expected to perform some administrative tasks related to everyday functioning and management.
- Strengthening Nikore Associates' social media presence on platforms including Instagram, Twitter, LinkedIn, Facebook and YouTube.
- Creating concise captions that adequately represent the desired theme and tone of the articles being promoted.

Eligibility and Skills Required:

- Individuals who have completed an undergraduate/or are enrolled in a degree in Economics, Development Studies or related fields.
- A passion for the following development sector themes is a must: gender, infrastructure development, transport and logistics, and skill development, amongst others.
- Those who thrive in start-up environments and showcase leadership skills are best suited for this role.

Location:

- This is a remote position with considerable flexibility.

Duration:

- All interns start with a two-month internship period. Possibility to transition into a Research Associate with stipend depending on quality of work and time commitment.

Hiring Process:

- Interested candidates are expected to fill in an application and pre-recruitment task, available on our website. Following this, a round of interviews will be conducted. All applicants can expect feedback on their applications.
